

HIGH SCHOOL IS PREY TO FIRE

BUILDING AND CONTENTS TOTAL LOSS, AS FLAMES LIGHT MIDNIGHT SKIES

Believed Blaze Started In the Domestic Science Rooms on First Floor

38 Firemen Fight Fire Over 8 Hours, Nearby Roof Fires Quickly Extinguished

The Washington High School building, South Broadway, was completely destroyed by fire last night. The yellow gray walls, charred, grotesque yet spectral in shape, are all that remain of the high school building that housed Brainerd students for the past 43 years. Early estimate of the damage placed it at close to $150,000 on building and contents.

Insurance carried amounted to $115,400, $93,000 on the building and $22,400 on the contents.

The Brainerd fire department received the alarm at 12:46 a. m. today by telephone from W. R. Ludlow, 612 South Broadway, who noticed the flames from his home. On arrival of the firemen the entire north section of the building was in flames. Thirty-eight firemen fought the conflagration for eight hours, using 3,500 feet of hose and 125 pounds pressure on five stream lines for five hours and one-half. Several roof fires from sparks blown to houses nearby were extinguished by the firemen. The two fire trucks and hook and ladder truck were brought into use.

No definite cause has been blamed for the start of the fire. The flames were first noticed near the domestic science room and as they leaped through the entire building two explosions were heard, believed to have taken place in the boiler room.

There was no loss of life or injuries connected with the fire. During the earlier part of the evening two basketball games had filled the gymnasium on the third floor, but by 11 o'clock the crowd had gone home and the building was empty.

All permanent records, referring to high school students, credits, etc., were saved when Superintendent W. C. Cobb and Miss M. Tornstrom, principal of the school, and firemen risked their lives to enter the flaming building at 1:30 A. M. to place the records in the safes.

Typewriters, desks, sewing machines, equipment and school supplies were destroyed. The few desks remaining in the manual training department in the basement were so wrecked by fire and smoke as to render them useless.

The flames consumed first the north section of the building, then the stairway section of the central part and finally the south end of the building. At 8:30 A. M. today the charred remains of the school as they lay in a conglomerate heap in the basement were still smoldering.

The Washington school building was constructed in 1884, with an addition constructed 26 years ago to take care of the increase in the number of students. It was not a modern building. The structure was of brick, three stories in height and measured approximately 175 feet in length and 100 feet in width with 15 class rooms.

Brainerd feels the loss of the old school like the death of an old cherished friend who has served the community well for years. Hundreds gathered at the fire last night but remained in safe distance from the walls which threatened at any time to crash. The firemen did everything in their power to save the building but the flames had taken too strong a hold to prevent their spread.

The Brainerd board of education plans to meet immediately to decide on locations for the holding of classes for the school year. It is hoped to find temporary locations by the re-opening of the school season after Easter. The students had been dismissed from their classes for their Easter vacation yesterday afternoon.

Due to the complete loss of books, and equipment, it will be a difficult matter to assemble the students and take up their school duties as left off. It is expected that churches and halls will be employed to house the students until a new school can be constructed.

Mr. Cobb made the following statement to the Dispatch this morning: "It is too early yet until the Board of Education meets to discuss temporary plans but it would seem to be the part of wisdom to expect the students would be housed at the re-opening of school in some temporary quarters yet undetermined."

The school housed about 625 pupils, 550 being high school students and 75 grade students.

Trophies won by the school, now blackened and charred by fire, smoke and water, were recovered this morning from the assembly room desk where they had been on exhibition. These trophies will become of historical value to the school in years to come.

No severe loss will be felt by any one insurance company as the policies were divided among fire insurance companies numbering close to 15.

The board of education will consider all phases of construction of a new high school at their earliest possible time. The regular meeting of the board takes place Monday evening and it is reported that the board will consider at that time the feasibility of holding an immediate election to decide on the site and bond issue.

Among the contents destroyed were many memorial pictures of graduating classes since the building was first used. These were treasured by the school and will be unable to replace.

There is a possibility that the manual training room can be repaired sufficiently to permit the holding of manual training classes there the remainder of the school year it was announced today by members of the school board. The walls on the southside at the manual training department escaped the full fury of the flames and are practically intact.

It is possible also that another room in the school can be used to accommodate a class for the remainder of the year.

Secretary Louis F. Hohman announced this morning that G. D. LaBar, president of the Brainerd Board of Education who is at present in Minneapolis had been notified of the fire by long distance telephone.

Mr. Hohman stated that the regular board meeting would be held on Monday night and that following the

ADMITS PUTTING RAT POISON IN MAN'S SOUP

Minneapolis, March 31.—(U.P.)—William Kelsen, 21, was sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory for from 1 to 5 years late Friday in district court after he admitted putting rat poison in the soup of E. E. Hall, 60, a janitor who had befriended him.

Kelsen said he found a tube of poison in the basement of the apartment building Hall cared for, and placed it in the soup as it cooked on the stove. He then left Minneapolis, and was captured at Belle Plaine. Hall detected the strange odor before eating the soup. Chemical analysis disclosed the poison, and warrants were secured for Kelsen's arrest.

EASTER STYLE PARADES HAVE FEMININE TOUCH

ABANDONMENT BY WOMEN OF MANNISH-VOGUES OF OTHER YEARS

GOVERNMENT TEXTILE DIVISION EXPERT CHECKS WOMEN'S STYLES

By JOSEPH WASNEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 31.—(U.P.)—Easter style parades this year will bring forth some old fashioned feminine touches in women's apparel, with abandonment of mannish vogues prevalent in the last few years, according to Edward T. Pickard, chief of the textile division of the commerce department, who checks carefully for the government all imports, exports and production of clothes.

"Soft cloth of conservative cut, embodying purely feminine touches are expected to be the choice of the majority," Pickard told the United Press in an exclusive interview.

"Vivid colored ensembles will be most prominent, the choice of color being left to the preference of the wearer rather than to the dictates of fashion. Style experts predict, however, that the conservative dresser will choose among solid brown, gun metal and blue."

Pickard said women's hats are expected to be styled along the same lines of the past season—small without too much trimming and colored to match suit and cloaks.

"Hose will be confined to light and gun metal hues, with flesh color expected to be most in evidence," he said. "Brown, gun metal, blue, and wine colored shoes will be worn extensively with ensembles."

"Reptilian style shoes will be popular, both in brown and black, and patent leather, suedes, and satin shoes will also be in style. Most of the shoes will be of domestic origin, but some have been imported from Switzerland, Austria, France and England to meet a limited demand."

Pickard said summer furs will be popular at Easter and many frocks will be fur trimmings. He said most of the women's apparel will be of domestic manufacture but Paris creations, as usual, will be the selection of those with a penchant for imported goods.

"Men will confine their Easter clothes to conservative cuts of brown, blue or gray," he continued. "Felt hats to match will be worn. Ties and shirts will be evenly divided between the gaudy and conservative effects."

"Oxfords will again have the favor of the men with black and tan as predominating colors."

regular business the meeting would likely be adjourned until Tuesday evening for a special session to take action on the school situation.

VERBAL BLASTS FOLLOW BOMBS IN CHICAGO ROW

HOSTILITIES CONTINUE BETWEEN RIVAL POLITICAL FACTIONS

DISPUTE ALSO BETWEEN CITY ADMINISTRATION AND FEDERAL DRY AGENTS

By C. C. NICOLET
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, March 31.—Verbal blasts supplanted bombs in Chicago's preliminary campaign today and hostilities between rival factions centered in a dispute between the city administration and federal prohibition authorities.

The dispute arose over the shooting of William Beatty, municipal court bailiff and republican ward leader, who was wounded by federal prohibition agents in a raid on a southside saloon Thursday night.

The shooting was linked with the political war by charges of Mayor William Hale Thompson that his political rival, U. S. Senator Charles S. Deneen was using his influence to direct intensive federal prohibition drives in Chicago as a means of "political intimidation."

Thompson, allied with States' Attorney Robert E. Crowe and Governor Len Small against the Deneen republican faction, charged the special details of prohibition agents, ordered here recently from Washington, were going about the city "threatening those who did not promise to support the Deneen ticket in the April 10 primary."

"The Deneen crowd shot a bailiff last night. They are performing just as we thought they would," Thompson said.

He was indicted by the federal grand jury yesterday afternoon on a charge of resisting a federal officer with a deadly weapon. Myron Caffey, prohibition agent, testified he shot Beatty.

Agent George F. Golding, leader of the federal raid, declared Beatty drew a gun and fired when the agents entered the saloon. Beatty denied this and said he mistook the agents for bandits and was running away when he was shot.

Chicago police charged details of the shooting were withheld for 24 hours; that Beatty was held under guard in a hospital, and that federal authorities refused to allow police to investigate the shooting.

Thirty liquor indictments were returned by the federal grand jury yesterday based on intensive activity of the special agents in the last few weeks. It was explained that Golding's squad was working independently out of Washington and was not connected with the Chicago authorities.

SLEET STORM BLAMED FOR WRECKING TRAIN

16 OF INJURED BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN HURT SERIOUSLY

CRACK PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN HITS REAR OF BROADWAY LIMITED

Lima, O., March 31.—(U.P.)—A sleet storm which leveled wires and telegraph poles throughout northern Ohio, was blamed today for the wrecking of the Liberty Limited, crack Pennsylvania passenger train, which crashed into the rear of the Broadway Limited four miles west of here last night, injuring 40 persons.

Sixteen of the injured were believed hurt seriously. They were brought to Lima hospitals.

The wreck occurred after the Broadway Limited was halted at a signal tower to await orders. Telegraph lines were down and the train crew was reluctant to proceed until they had been given the right-of-way. The Liberty Limited, running 40 miles an hour and without orders advising the preceding train had been stopped, plowed through three rear coaches of the train.

Two coaches of the Liberty buckled and the locomotive was derailed. Ambulances were rushed to the scene from here and twenty of the injured were brought to hospitals.

The first warning passengers had of the impending disaster was the screeching of brakes as Engineer Henry Strauser of the Liberty, applied the airbrakes.

SEN. F. B. WILLIS DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME CITY

Great Crowd Had Gathered to Welcome Senator Who Stood at Reviewing Stand and Watched His Townpeople Parade in His Honor

Delaware, O., March 31.—Ohio,

"the mother of presidents," today embraced in death its favorite son for the 1928 republican presidential nomination—Senator Frank B. Willis.

Willis died last night as a great crowd gathered in a home-coming at his home city to listen to his address, aimed towards his own presidential candidacy.

"I feel ill," Willis said as the Columbus Republican Glee club sang "At the End of a Perfect Day."

A few minutes later he was dead. There was a great demonstration for Willis during the evening. The Kiwanis club banqueted him.

Later he stood at a reviewing stand—silhouetted against a sky reddened by torches—and watched his townspeople parade in his honor. For more than 30 minutes he watched the parade and once or twice complained, in an undertone, that he had inhaled some of the smoke from the red flares.

Then he went to the gray chapel of Ohio Wesleyan University which was filling rapidly with admirers. He was led to the place of honor on the platform and the leading citizens of Delaware joined him there. Many well known Ohio republicans also were on the speaker's program.

A glee club furnished the musical part of the program. It was a varied program and the singers were just in the midst of Carrie Bond's melody when Willis complained of feeling ill.

Mrs. Willis was at his side. She did not realize the seriousness of her husband's illness and did not accompany him out of the hall, remaining behind to hear the glee club finish "A Perfect Day" and begin "How Can I Leave Thee?"

Outside the chapel Willis fainted. He was carried into the president's office and Dr. James Dorrance was called from the audience. The doctor arrived just as the senator died. Death was attributed to cerebral hemorrhage.

Mrs. Willis meanwhile had been called from the platform. She was grief stricken.

Bruce Burgess, president of the Delaware-Willis-for-President club, went back into the chapel and there announced that Ohio's favorite son and Delaware's first citizen, was dead.

The 3,000 or more persons who had come to cheer Willis, were stunned. There was a hush over the room. Many of the audience had chatted with the senator during the day, or had seen him on the streets.

The body later was taken to an undertaking parlor and will be held pending arrival of the senator's two brothers, Dr. Lloyd Willis of Chicago and Buell Willis of Lewis Center, O. Mrs. Willis was taken to her home at Galena, O. A daughter, a teacher at Ohio Northern University at Ada, was advised of her father's death.

Funeral arrangements will not be announced until the brothers arrive.

Willis was 56 years old. Before going to the senate, he had been governor of Ohio, member of the Ohio legislature and member of congress. He was elected to the senate on the Harding-Coolidge ticket in 1920.

Willis was an ultra dry, both personally and politically.

He was known as an organization republican, and had built up in his home state a powerful political machine.

As Senator Willis walked into the hallway, he was met by his secretary, Charles A. Jones.

"Jones," he said faintly, "I do not feel well. I have never felt like this before."

Those were his last words.

Five doctors were summoned from the audience and as the cheers of the throng rang in the ears of those standing anxiously beside the senator's couch, he died.

The physicians at first diagnosed

Senator Willis' illness as acute indigestion.

Mrs. Willis collapsed when the news was announced.

The evening was to have been one of triumph for the senator. His friends had gathered from all parts of the state to add their bit to his royal welcome home.

There was no hint of impending tragedy and the old fashioned torch-light parade—reminiscent of Willis' earlier political rallies—was a joyous affair.

Willis responded heartily to the greetings that came from all sides, the banners that had been carried in the parade were distributed through the audience with their legends, "Frank Willis—we are for you," "Our Will is Willis," "Willis is Our Man."

The senator smiled broadly and pointed to the banners.

It was a noisy and enthusiastic throng that was transformed into one of grief and mourning.

It was a non-partisan meeting and a former democratic mayor had just counseled them to lay aside politics and prejudice and join in a real old-fashioned welcome.

Fred B. Warner, chairman of the republican state central committee, paved the way for the senator's introduction, then Burgess signalled the glee club to take the platform, saying he hoped Senator Willis' favorite song, "The End of a Perfect Day," would be sung.

The singers responded and as the notes of the song filled the chapel, there was a noticeable stir in the rear of the stage.

Doctors were called and the audience quieted. There was a painful pause as the glee club completed its song, then a rush for the stage which had been deserted.

Then came the announcement that Willis was seriously ill and would not be able to speak.

The announcement of his death followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford Sail For England

New York, March 31.—(U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford sailed for Southampton today on the White Star liner Majestic, occupying the royal suite which was designed for the Kaiser when the Majestic was the German liner Bismarck.

En route to Europe the Fords will be well shielded from the curiosity of their fellow passengers. The royal suite included two large state-rooms, a sun parlor which is actually a private deck, three baths and a sitting room. They can enjoy all the advantages of ocean travel without leaving their suite.

Before sailing, the automobile manufacturer said he and Mrs. Ford were sailing "simply on a pleasure trip."

"We expect to return by the same liner on May 7," he said.

This is Ford's first ocean voyage since his famous peace ship project when he sailed to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas."

To avoid delays occasioned by the wide public interest in him, Ford had booked passage for himself and Mrs. Ford as Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson.

While in Europe Ford probably will visit factories producing his popular new model automobile there.

Outside the chapel Willis fainted. He was carried into the president's office and Dr. James Dorrance was called from the audience. The doctor arrived just as the senator died. Death was attributed to cerebral hemorrhage.

Mrs. Willis meanwhile had been called from the platform. She was grief stricken.

Bruce Burgess, president of the Delaware-Willis-for-President club, went back into the chapel and there announced that Ohio's favorite son and Delaware's first citizen, was dead.

The 3,000 or more persons who had come to cheer Willis, were stunned. There was a hush over the room. Many of the audience had chatted with the senator during the day, or had seen him on the streets.

The body later was taken to an undertaking parlor and will be held pending arrival of the senator's two brothers, Dr. Lloyd Willis of Chicago and Buell Willis of Lewis Center, O. Mrs. Willis was taken to her home at Galena, O. A daughter, a teacher at Ohio Northern University at Ada, was advised of her father's death.

Funeral arrangements will not be announced until the brothers arrive.

Willis was 56 years old. Before going to the senate, he had been governor of Ohio, member of the Ohio legislature and member of congress. He was elected to the senate on the Harding-Coolidge ticket in 1920.

Willis was an ultra dry, both personally and politically.

He was known as an organization republican, and had built up in his home state a powerful political machine.

As Senator Willis walked into the hallway, he was met by his secretary, Charles A. Jones.

"Jones," he said faintly, "I do not feel well. I have never felt like this before."

Those were his last words. Five doctors were summoned from the audience and as the cheers of the throng rang in the ears of those standing anxiously beside the senator's couch, he died.

The physicians at first diagnosed

Senator Willis' illness as acute indigestion.

Mrs. Willis collapsed when the news was announced. The evening was to have been one of triumph for the senator. His friends had gathered from all parts of the state to add their bit to his royal welcome home.

There was no hint of impending tragedy and the old fashioned torchlight parade—reminiscent of Willis' earlier political rallies—was a joyous affair.

Willis responded heartily to the greetings that came from all sides, the banners that had been carried in the parade were distributed through the audience with their legends, "Frank Willis—we are for you." "Our Will is Willis." "Willis is Our Man."

The senator smiled broadly and pointed to the banners.

It was a noisy and enthusiastic throng that was transformed into one of grief and mourning.

It was a non-partisan meeting and a former democratic mayor had just counseled them to lay aside politics and prejudice and join in a real old-fashioned welcome.

Fred B. Warner, chairman of the republican state central committee, paved the way for the senator's introduction, then Burgess signalled the glee club to take the platform, saying he hoped Senator Willis' favorite song, "The End of a Perfect Day," would be sung.

The singers responded and as the notes of the song filled the chapel, there was a noticeable stir in the rear of the stage.

Doctors were called and the audience quieted. There was a painful pause as the glee club completed its song, then a rush for the stage which had been deserted.

Then came the announcement that Willis was seriously ill and would not be able to speak.

The announcement of his death followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford Sail For England

New York, March 31.—(U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford sailed for Southampton today on the White Star liner Majestic, occupying the royal suite which was designed for the Kaiser when the Majestic was the German liner Bismarck.

En route to Europe the Fords will be well shielded from the curiosity of their fellow passengers. The royal suite included two large state-rooms, a sun parlor which is actually a private deck, three baths and a sitting room. They can enjoy all the advantages of ocean travel without leaving their suite.

Before sailing, the automobile manufacturer said he and Mrs. Ford were sailing "simply on a pleasure trip."

"We expect to return by the same liner on May 7," he said.

This is Ford's first ocean voyage since his famous peace ship project when he sailed to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas."

To avoid delays occasioned by the wide public interest in him, Ford had booked passage for himself and Mrs. Ford as Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson.

While in Europe Ford probably will visit factories producing his popular new model automobile there.

LOMSKI DEFEATS SEKYRA BY BODY ATTACK

CHAMPIONSHIP ASPIRATIONS OF SEKYRA FLATTENED

SEKYRA PROVED HIMSELF AN AWKWARD, INEXPERIENCED BOXER

EASY PREY FOR LOMSKI'S RIGHT HAND BODY BLOWS

By FRANK GETTY

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 31.—(UP)—The championship aspirations of Joe Sekyra of Dayton, whether in the heavyweight or 175 pound division, have been disposed of for the time being by his decisive defeat at the hands of Leo Lomski of Aberdeen, Wash.

Sekyra proved himself an awkward, inexperienced boxer who was an easy prey for Lomski's right hand body blows, which won last night's fight in Madison Square Garden.

As for Lomski, he added little to his personal prestige by his victory, since Sekyra put up only the most indifferent sort of battle.

Leo will be matched with Mickey Walger, middleweight champion, for an open air bout in Newark, N. J. The so-called Aberdeen assassin won as he pleased last night, because the Ohio boxer left his body wide open for right hand punches at close quarters and left the ring with his body an angry red from the effect of Lomski's short but vicious wallops.

The fight which had promised so much by way of being a "natural" left much to be desired, since Sekyra, contrary to his custom, was on the defensive throughout most of the ten rounds and Lomski contended himself with a strenuous and punishing body attack.

Tommy Loughran, who was introduced from the ring last night, has little to fear from the winner. He already has defeated Lomski in a championship bout, and presumably he would increase his margin of victory next time.

Repeated punches in the ribs and kidneys brought Sekyra down to a snail's pace, and Lomski always was out in front. Yet neither of these fighters, touted so highly as possible champions, rose to the occasion. Neither showed anything which would warrant the boxing fans of the east becoming excited over his championship possibilities.

From the start it was apparent that Lomski had the fight well in hand. Whoever taught Sekyra to box had forgotten to teach him to protest his life side, and it was upon this unprotected sector that Lomski beat a devastating drum-fire of victory.

In the other round Harrison defeated Lincoln 21 to 6.

YOUNGSTERS FIGURE IN MANAGER'S PLANS

"WE'LL BEAR WATCHING WITH YOUTH, SPEED AND HUSTLE"

PITCHING STAFF AND INFIELD ARE STRONG DEPARTMENTS

Following is the eighth of a series of United Press interviews with major league managers. Today: Ray Schalk, Chicago White Sox. Monday: Donie Bush, Pittsburgh Pirates.

(Copyright, 1928, by United Press) Shreveport, La., March 31.—(UP)

Youngsters figure prominently in the plans of Ray Schalk for getting the Chicago White Sox up among the contenders for the American League pennant this season.

"We'll bear watching," the diminutive White Sox leader told the United Press in an exclusive interview today, "for three reasons—1, youth; 2, speed; 3, hustle."

"I believe the White Sox are stronger than last year and if the youngsters stand up, well—"

The pitching staff and the infield Schalk believes, are the strongest departments of the 1928 White Sox. "I won't say we'll have the greatest infield in the league," Schalk said, "but I don't believe it will suffer in comparison to any other infield in the league."

The Sox infield will be made up of Johnny Clancy at first, Bill Hunsfield at second, Shalmer Cissell at short and Willie Kamm at third; "This boy Cissell has a great career ahead of him," Schalk said. "Kamm is due for his greatest year at third and Clancy will be an improved player at first. I might decide on a shift at second before the season opens, using John Mann from the Wichita Falls Texas League club or George Redfern from the Fort Worth Texas League club in place of Hunsfield. Both of the Texas League recruits have been playing in big league style."

With two of the best pitchers in the league in Teddie Lyon and Tommy (Al) Thomas, Schalk rates his pitching staff as the best the Sox have had in years.

"I look for Ted Blankenship to have a big year," he said, "and we have picked up two promising youngsters in Al Williamson from the Shreveport Texas League club and George Cox from the Jackson Cotton States League club."

The other pitchers are Red Faber, who is not through at 39, Sergeant George Connally, Charley Barnabe, Bill Goodell, and maybe one or two other rookies, Goodell is a find from the Tulsa, Okla., sandlots.

Schalk had little to say about his outfield which may be the weak spot in the team.

"We have found one of the year's best prospects in Carl Reynolds, a youngster from the Palestine Lone Star League club," Schalk declared. "He is one of the fastest right handed swingers at bat I have ever seen. I believe he will become one of the best outfielders in the big leagues, but he needs experience."

Unless Johnny Mostil makes a successful comeback, the outfield again will be composed of Bib Falk in left, Alex Metzler in center and Bill Barrett in right. Randolph Moore from the Waco Texas League club will be retained.

Schalk expects to take his turn in the catcher's box this season with Harry McCurdy, Clyde Crouse and Moe Berg, the reformed infielder. Schalk caught only sixteen games last year. The Yankees won't run away with the pennant this season, Schalk said.

"If every club takes two more games from the Yankees this season than they did last season, where will they finish?" Schalk asked. "And they're going to miss Shocker," he added.

"The Athletics are going to be hard to beat and Tris Speaker and the other veterans will help Connie Mack's team considerably in the race. The old-timers may not have the speed, but they have the knowledge."

The games were the last ones to ever be played in the Washington high school building for only a few hours later the school was completely destroyed by fire.

The boys game was featured by the clever playing of the underclassmen as they came through with completed plays, showing brilliant floor work. Purdy, Wise, Guin and Hautala were high point men.

The teams lined up as follows:
Underclassmen — Purdy, Dybvik, Wise, Schuety, forwards; Guin, Paine, center; Fuller, Hautala, Gabiou, Goedderz, guards.

Seniors—Welliver, LaCourse, Ellison, forwards; Barnes, center; Ellison, Storm, Hanson, guards.

CAMBRIDGE CREW SPURTS ITS WAY TO EASY VICTORY

FINISHES 10 LENGTHS AHEAD OF TRADITIONAL OPPONENTS

TIME WAS WELL OVER THE RECORD FOR THE COURSE

By KEITH JONES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Putney, England, March 31.—A well-trained and stout-hearted Cambridge crew today spurted its way into one of the greatest and easiest victories Cambridge ever had scored in the 80th running of Oxford-Cambridge boat races, by finishing ten lengths ahead of their traditional opponents.

The time was well over the record, but Cambridge didn't need record speed to defeat the crew that filled the Oxford boat today.

The race was rowed in 20 minutes and 25 seconds against the record of 18 minutes and 29 seconds established by Oxford in 1911.

Never was Cambridge challenged. At the finish they seemed strong and did not appear distressed. In contrast the Oxford crew was fatigued. Several of them hung over their oars when the boat finally put by the finish mark at Mort Lake. Their last mile or two had exhausted them and at the finish they were rowing raggedly and with no semblance of the splendid union they had shown at the start.

It was the 39th race Cambridge had won since the event was started. Oxford has won 40 and one race ended in a dead heat.

The crowd was not as great as in the past. Intermittent showers had caused many to desert this classic boat race.

RUMORS ABOUT HEENEY MEETING GENE TUNNEY

Miami Beach, Fla., March 31.—(U.P.)—There was plenty to talk about on Miami Beach today but whether it was true that Tom Heenev will be Gene Tunney's next opponent was still a matter of rumor, conjecture and report.

Anyway, Tex Rickard and Charlie Harvey, who is manager for the challenger, had two conferences yesterday about something and at the conclusion of each refused to comment on what was said or done, if any.

Tunney wants to remain out of the discussion of his next opponent.

"It is preposterous to think I should attempt to pick him. That's Rickard's job," the heavyweight champion said.

SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 1928

"UNIVERSITY APPRECIATION DAY"

EVERY single individual in the State of Minnesota will be brought into close contact with the University of Minnesota in a mammoth "University Appreciation Day" program planned on the campus for May 5, 1928.

This was the date set aside by Governor Theodore Christianson, in a proclamation by him on March 23rd, urging that the entire citizenry of the state co-operate in making "University Appreciation Day" one in which the entire state can take part in a celebration to show the appreciation of the University itself, and the service it has rendered.

Ben W. Palmer, Minneapolis attorney, has been appointed general chairman of the State-Wide Citizens' Committee by the governor to take charge of the entire program.

The plan of Mr. Palmer at the present time is, first, to form his executive committee of prominent individuals who are the head of state-wide organizations, and second, to organize individual local committees in various parts of the state to link up every single individual in this large State-Wide Citizens' committee.

The proceeds of the festival on May 5th will be used to send the University of Minnesota Band abroad during the summer of 1928, this band being designated by Governor Christianson in his proclamation as a "good will messenger to foreign lands." Michael Jalma, former bandmaster of the 151st field artillery band, during the war who has been director of the University band for the past eight years, will select his men sometime this week.

There are 130 men in the combined military, concert, and varsity bands at the present time, and it is from this group that the 60 men who will make the European trip will be selected. Mr. Jalma will select his European program at once and will drill his men on these selections so that they will be ready when the time comes for leaving for Europe.

Mr. Palmer will ask Michael Jalma and his band to present their European program for the state citizens in the field house on the evening of May 5th.

Dr. Clarence Spears, head football coach on the campus, has already offered to have his "A" or first varsity and his "B" or junior varsity meet in a game in the stadium on May 5th as a feature of the program in the afternoon.

Many other individuals and organizations have also expressed their intention of assisting Mr. Palmer in carrying out his state-wide program on May 5th, and the exact nature of the work which he will have these groups do will be made known in the entire program which will be made up after the first meeting of the executive committee.

"The spirit behind 'University Appreciation Day' is one which is implied in the name and that is of appreciation," Mr. Palmer said. "The governor indicated this in his proclamation, and it is not that the people have not been appreciative of their University, but that they have not had an opportunity to show this publicly. The celebration planned for May 5th will do this very thing. It will give the entire citizenry of the state the one occasion when they can all meet on the campus, and join in one great celebration for the great work which the University of Minnesota is doing and has done during its sixty years of existence."

ARE YOU A RECKLESS DRIVER?

ARE you a reckless driver, asks Brownie of the Milwaukee Journal? Do you think that to be classified as a reckless driver it is necessary that one be intoxicated or drive at an unsafe speed? Here are some other things that make one at law a reckless driver. Are you wholly guiltless?

Cutting in and weaving in traffic.
Cutting corners.
Taking right of way at intersections in the face of the car on the right.

Failure to stop at pedestrian crosswalk zones when occupied.
Passing standing street cars discharging or taking on passengers.

Passing to right of vehicles at a fast rate of speed.
Driving at fast rate of speed across built-up intersections and congested areas.

Driving with inadequate brakes.
Driving without headlights lighted at night.

Driving on left side of highway, particularly on curves.
Failure to observe boulevard stops and other traffic regulations.

SPEEDING WHEELS OF JUSTICE

THE DISPATCH notes with satisfaction the effort made to facilitate the court work in this state.

To speed up the wheels of justice and eliminate long delays between convictions and appeals is the warning contained in a decision of the state supreme court.

The high body held that appeals must be made within six months after convictions and that no stipulations between counsel for the defense and prosecution can change this time limit.

The case on which the high body ruled was that of Otto Lund, who was convicted April 2, 1926, of killing Peter Paul, an Indian in Round Lake township. On April 2 Lund was sentenced according to the law to the state reformatory at St. Cloud. Notice of appeal was not filed until September, 1926, and on October 2, 1926, a writ of stipulation was signed, prolonging the time for a motion for a new trial.

When motion for a new trial was made October 3, 1927, a year later, it was denied by the judge and the case was appealed to the state supreme court, which upheld the judge's decision and held that Lund would have to serve his time. The high body also issued the warning against the delays between convictions and appeals.

HERMAN ROE of the Northfield News tells this one: "I am reminded of the difference between a city daily and country weekly as described by a Minnesota editor who enjoys quite a reputation as a satirist in our state of Ten Thousand Lakes. 'In order to get your name in a city paper,' he said, 'you have to shoot your wife, get gored to death by a flivver, marry a movie star, predict the end of the world, or do something sensational.' To get your name in my paper all you have to do is have a guest or a baby at your house, invite in a few friends, buy a purebred bull or improve your property."—Morris Tribune.

SYNOPSIS

A series of bold silk robberies are threatening a shake-up in the New York police department at the time when Danny Malone wins a place on the force and is assigned to a school district. His sweetheart, Mary Gillen, and her grandfather, a retired veteran of the force, are worried because Danny seems more interested in finding his wayward brother, Dick, than in making good with the department. Danny's bravery in rescuing a child from the path of a runaway horse is brought to the attention of Commissioner Leonard by Jimmy Wells, a reporter covering the silk robberies for his newspaper, and Leonard orders Danny transferred to the silk district. Mary works in the office of Alfred Dayton, Jr., son of a silk importer who has been one of the heaviest losers to the bandits.

"They certainly are," admitted Leonard. "Do you know Malone?"
"No, chief, I don't but he must be good or Martin wouldn't have had him on that corner. I do know Jimmy Wells though, and if that kid thinks Malone is good . . . well, I guess he is. That Wells guy knows his onlookers."
"Danny visited the Gillens the night before. He always did, but he didn't say a word about the accident. Dad didn't read the World, but he learned about it first thing to the morning and spent one of the happiest days of his life. Mary, of course, didn't know a thing about it, and when she saw Danny's face staring off the page of her newspaper she almost embraced

Alfred Dayton who entered at the moment and stood reading over her shoulder.
"Danny had made good, and not a thing else in the world mattered. That morning she had opened a letter from his broker telling him that he owed $12,000 on margin. As a rule this news made him unbearable, but today he took it with a smile."

"Twelve thousand is a lot of money, isn't it?" he asked. Then taking a piece of paper he divided seventy-five by three and subtracted a third from the remainder. The result was apparently okay.
"Guess we'd better pay them, hadn't we? I'm going out for about fifteen minutes. If anyone important calls tell them to wait."
As he went Mary couldn't help wondering where and how he was going to get the money to pay that bill. As his secretary she knew that he had barely three thousand dollars in the bank, yet he didn't seem worried about a twelve thousand dollar bill.

"It's nice to have a rich family," she mused, then went back to the penicil of her paper.

"She was still reading when Dayton came back, a happy smile on his face. He was not a hard boss, but Mary did not want to give him any opportunity to be more than her employer so she hid the paper. It wasn't necessary for the man walked by without noticing it.

Ordinarily she would have noticed that, but nothing mattered then except the story about Danny, her Danny, and she went back to her reading. She was going through it for the twentieth time when Jimmy Wells arrived. Jimmy admitted that he had a way with the women, and before he spoke he eyed Mary up very carefully. For once he was stumped. To start with she seemed simply unconscious of his presence; secondly, she wasn't the sort of girl that Jimmy knew would stand for his line. Finally he gave up waiting to be noticed and as cheerily as possible remarked:

"Pardon me."
"Mary was startled, and conscious that she must have appeared unduly interested, frowned haughtily as he inquired:

"Who do you want to see, sir?"
"Mr. Dayton, Sr.," announced Jimmy as he held out his card.

The card didn't mean a thing to Mary. She only wanted time to gather her senses, so she asked him in a somewhat detached manner:

"What do you want to see him about?"
Jimmy had been around too long to be misled by any stenographer, even though he recognized that this one had something on her mind, so he decided to tell the whole story, and lose nothing in the telling.

"My paper wants a statement from Mr. Dayton," he remarked, "regarding the action of the Union Club against the inaction of the Police in the matter of the recent silk robberies."

That and much more rattled off his tongue and the further he went the more he knew that he wasn't getting anywhere. When he finally finished Mary looked up at him and asked:
"Have you an appointment?"
"No, I haven't," and as he said it, Jimmy knew that for once someone had put it over him and that one thing he wasn't going to do was see Mr. Dayton. He was right. Mary looked up, and with the semblance of a smile remarked:
"I'm sorry, sir, but Mr. Dayton isn't in."

Then having been polite to this rather fresh young man, Mary proceeded to forget him, and reread her story. Jimmy however was far from through. Looking over her shoulder he managed to catch a glimpse of the story she was reading and saw that it was his own.

A broad grin broke all over his face as he thought of the surefire idea, then in a most matter of fact voice he remarked:
"That's a great guy you're reading about, isn't he?" Mary looked up again, and this time the caustic comment almost trickled off her tongue. Jimmy's grin, however, saved him for the ten millionth time, and somewhat shyly she asked:
"How do you know?"
"Why I'm the guy who saw him do it. See, by Jimmy Wells, and I'm Jimmy Wells."

"Why didn't you say so before?" asked Mary.
"You didn't give an awful big

SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 1928

"UNIVERSITY APPRECIATION DAY"

EVERY single individual in the State of Minnesota will be brought into close contact with the University of Minnesota in a mammoth "University Appreciation Day" program planned on the campus for May 5, 1928.

This was the date set aside by Governor Theodore Christianson, in a proclamation by him on March 23rd, urging that the entire citizenry of the state co-operate in making "University Appreciation Day" one in which the entire state can take part in a celebration to show the appreciation of the University itself, and the service it has rendered.

Ben W. Palmer, Minneapolis attorney, has been appointed general chairman of the State-Wide Citizens' Committee by the governor to take charge of the entire program.

The plan of Mr. Palmer at the present time is, first, to form his executive committee of prominent individuals who are the head of state-wide organizations, and second, to organize individual local committees in various parts of the state to link up every single individual in this large State-Wide Citizens' committee.

The proceeds of the festival on May 5th will be used to send the University of Minnesota Band abroad during the summer of 1928, this band being designated by Governor Christianson in his proclamation as a "good will messenger to foreign lands." Michael Jalma, former bandmaster of the 151st field artillery band, during the war who has been director of the University band for the past eight years, will select his men sometime this week.

There are 130 men in the combined military, concert, and varsity bands at the present time, and it is from this group that the 60 men who will make the European trip will be selected. Mr. Jalma will select his European program at once and will drill his men on these selections so that they will be ready when the time comes for leaving for Europe.

Mr. Palmer will ask Michael Jalma and his band to present their European program for the state citizens in the field house on the evening of May 5th.

Dr. Clarence Spears, head football coach on the campus, has already offered to have his "A" or first varsity and his "B" or junior varsity meet in a game in the stadium on May 5th as a feature of the program in the afternoon.

Many other individuals and organizations have also expressed their intention of assisting Mr. Palmer in carrying out his state-wide program on May 5th, and the exact nature of the work which he will have these groups do will be made known in the entire program which will be made up after the first meeting of the executive committee.

"The spirit behind 'University Appreciation Day' is one which is implied in the name and that is of appreciation," Mr. Palmer said. "The governor indicated this in his proclamation, and it is not that the people have not been appreciative of their University, but that they have not had an opportunity to show this publicly. The celebration planned for May 5th will do this very thing. It will give the entire citizenry of the state the one occasion when they can all meet on the campus, and join in one great celebration for the great work which the University of Minnesota is doing and has done during its sixty years of existence."

ARE YOU A RECKLESS DRIVER?

ARE you a reckless driver, asks Brownie of the Milwaukee Journal? Do you think that to be classified as a reckless driver it is necessary that one be intoxicated or drive at an unsafe speed? Here are some other things that make one at law a reckless driver. Are you wholly guiltless?

Cutting in and weaving in traffic.

Cutting corners.

Taking right of way at intersections in the face of the car on the right.

Failure to stop at pedestrian crosswalk zones when occupied.

Passing standing street cars discharging or taking on passengers.

Passing to right of vehicles at a fast rate of speed.

Driving with inadequate brakes.

Driving without headlights lighted at night.

Driving on left side of highway, particularly on curves.

Failure to observe boulevard stops and other traffic regulations.

SPEEDING WHEELS OF JUSTICE

THE DISPATCH notes with satisfaction the effort made to facilitate the court work in this state.

To speed up the wheels of justice and eliminate long delays between convictions and appeals is the warning contained in a decision of the state supreme court.

The high body held that appeals must be made within six months after convictions and that no stipulations between counsel for the defense and prosecution can change this time limit.

The case on which the high body ruled was that of Otto Lund, who was convicted April 2, 1926, of killing Peter Paul, an Indian in Round Lake township. On April 2 Lund was sentenced according to the law to the state reformatory at St. Cloud. Notice of appeal was not filed until September, 1926, and on October 2, 1926, a writ of stipulation was signed, prolonging the time for a motion for a new trial.

When motion for a new trial was made October 3, 1927, a year later, it was denied by the judge and the case was appealed to the state supreme court, which upheld the judge's decision and held that Lund would have to serve his time. The high body also issued the warning against the delays between convictions and appeals.

HERMAN ROE of the Northfield News tells this one: "I am reminded of the difference between a city daily and country weekly as described by our state of Ten Thousand Lakes. In order to get your name in a city paper," he said, "you have to shoot your wife, get gored to death by a flivver, marry a movie star, predict the end of the world, or do something sensational." "Sure do," smiled James; then, taking his hat off, "Guess I'll trot along, seeing that Mr. Dayton isn't in."

"Er—wait a minute. Maybe Mr. Dayton came in while we were talking. Wait while I see."

Jimmy smiled happily as Mary tripped towards the door labeled Alfred Dayton, Sr. While he was waiting the next door opened, and young Dayton came out. He was smiling, and from the surprised look on his face, Jimmy thought that maybe he wasn't too glad to see him there.

"Good morning, Mr. Dayton," Jimmy offered.

That gentleman turned with a grunt and re-entered his office.

"Nice sort of a guy," remarked Jimmy, and Mary, coming back from her mission, heard him and smiled.

"Mr. Dayton will see you now," she remarked, and the accompanying smile almost made Jimmy forget why he was there.

The door to Dayton's office had hardly closed before Alfred Dayton appeared again. From the look on his face Mary expected trouble, and she guessed rightly.

"Miss Gillen—Mary—I'm leaving for home now, and if you are to come I'd like to drive you home. Maybe you will let me take you to supper?"

Mary had been feeling very happy, but somehow this seemed to take the glory out of everything.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but I can't see you tonight. I have an old appointment. Maybe some other night—if I can."

"You certainly can," confided Dayton, missing her meaning somewhat. "But you'll let me drive you home, won't you?"

Mary was on the point of saying no, when she remembered that she was in a hurry to get home, and that by means of this lift, she might arrive before Danny did. The long and short of it was that a few minutes later Mary was crushed into Dayton's exaggerated single seater and whizzing along towards home.

In spite of the unusual aid she was receiving, Mary was too late to welcome Danny, and when she and the car turned into her block, Danny was standing on the porch of the Gillen home. The center of a group of admiring girls, and the most uncomfortable patrolman in New York.

To Mary this was tragedy. She hadn't even known herself how much she had been wanting to be the first person to welcome Danny that night—and now—almost everyone was before her.

BRAINERD IS SAFE! SAYS MUFF DOWNIE

The Brainerdian is safe! For the benefit of a very agitated and aggravated public that is anxious about the welfare of this student's institution we wish to announce that the '28 Annual will be off the presses about the 15th of May.

All the copy for the book was very fortunately either still in the pen or in the hands of the Dispatch. The Brainerdian editor spent a very restful night and those of the staff that did attend the fire went only to calmly gaze at the catastrophe.

The material that was left in the building was well soaked. The fire department fought to keep the blaze away from the office, knowing well that if all that hot stuff harbored there caught the spark there wouldn't be anything to photograph in the morning.

Nothing is left now—hardly a skeleton upon which to build your "I remember when" castles. You can't visit high school and say, "It looks just about the same"—because it doesn't! Nothing is left except the records—those intimate little notes jotted down at the time—and we've got those!

Now—don't you feel a bit surer of your desire for a '28 Annual?

Class pictures were snapped Thursday—just in time and staff members are hurrying up the copy for the rest. There are two or three pictures of the old high school in the book and lots of them with it for a background.

At that hour she was unable to connect with a single telephone in Crisfield. She said she had heard that from one to three persons were injured, with possibly one person dead. The fire was still smoldering, she said.

CHRISTIAN LIFE MISSION

Beautiful Illustrated Sermon Devoted Entirely to the Young People

The entire service was devoted to the boys and girls, a beautiful illustrated sermon being given particularly for their benefit.

This evening will be Young People's night. A luncheon will be served before the service to the young people of the congregation, and then a special section will be reserved for them through the service to follow. Mr. Valiant will speak on the subject "The Passing of the Ships." All are urged to attend this service.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 29, 1903

Miss Carrie Sykora has taken a position with Mrs. J. K. Pearce and will learn the millinery trade.

W. J. F. Miller has returned to Brainerd from Duluth and has taken his old position in the office of the Minnesota & International in this city.

J. J. Ellsworth, age 68 years, an old time printer in this state, having been with the St. Paul Pioneer Press for years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his son at Neutral, after an illness of several weeks.

Miss May Candee, the music teacher, returned to her home in Minneapolis this afternoon.

This morning at an early hour the fire department was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Keene. The blaze was a small one and was extinguished before any damage was done.

Yesterday morning shortly after 8 o'clock fire was discovered in the old Blatner house on Second street south and before the department could manage to turn on a stream the flames had eaten their way through the walls of the old frame structure, and it was destined to go.

Judge M. A. Spooner, recently appointed by Governor Van Sant, has qualified and today took the bench at his home town, Bemidji, relieving Judge McClenahan, who convened a term of court there a week or two ago.

The bridge at John Bishop's over the thoroughfare between Gull and Round Lakes has been taken up by the high waters and the traffic up that road will be seriously interfered with as soon as the ice goes out. The bridge was built new last summer.

The regular spring vacation in the city schools will take place next week.

H. A. Lyndon has sold his two houses on the corner of Eighth and Holly streets to Olaf Skaug, the druggist.

A son was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Erickson.

Miss Sara Wilson leaves tomorrow to teach a term of school at Vine-land.

Promenade concerts which are so popular in London and Paris are most enjoyable functions, and that which will take place in Gardner's hall on April 17 promises to be a genuine success. As this will be the first ever given in the city it is advisable perhaps to explain that there is no dancing at such entertainments. The audience will be seated during the first part of the program, consisting of eight numbers, which will be rendered by Miss Charlotte Hanlon, Miss Marion Hallady and Messrs. McCarthy. After this the seats will be arranged around the walls and the center, full length of the hall, be cleared for promenading.

March 31, 1903

Mrs. Skinkle of Minneapolis who visited in Brainerd with Mrs. C. H. Paine, for a day or two returned home this afternoon.

Invitations have been sent out for the regular annual Easter party to be given by Ascalon Commandry, No. 16 K. T. on Monday evening, April 13, 1903, at their asylum. Dancing will commence at 8:30 o'clock and it will be one of the pretentious social affairs of the season.

KILLED EMPLOYER AS HE REFUSED BACK WAGES

Niles, Mich., March 31.—(UP)—Marguerite Bumbaugh, 32, Warsaw, Ind., was held on a charge of murder here today following her confession that she shot and killed Walter H. Cook, wealthy basket manufacturer, in his office here yesterday.

The young woman declared she killed Cook because he refused to pay her $3,379 in back wages.

She entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of first degree murder, and hearing was set for April 6. She was to be taken to the county jail at St. Joseph, Mich., today.

Miss Bumbaugh, accompanied by her two brothers, entered Cook's office and demanded payment of the girl's wages. Witnesses said Cook refused and that Miss Bumbaugh drew a gun and started firing.

BRAINONIAN IS SAFE! SAYS MUFF DOWNIE

The Brainonian is safe! For the benefit of a very agitated and aggravated public that is anxious about the welfare of this student's institution we wish to announce that the '28 Annual will be off the presses about the 15th of May.

All the copy for the book was very fortunately either still in the pen or in the hands of the Dispatch. The Brainonian editor spent a very restful night and those of the staff that did attend the fire went only to calmly gaze at the catastrophe.

The material that was left in the building was well soaked. The fire department fought to keep the blaze away from the office, knowing well that if all that hot stuff harbored there caught the spark there wouldn't be anything to photograph in the morning.

Nothing is left now—hardly a skeleton upon which to build your "I remember when" castles. You can't visit high school and say, "It looks just about the same"—because it doesn't! Nothing is left except the records—those intimate little notes jotted down at the time—and we've got those!

Now—don't you feel a bit surer of your desire for a '28 Annual?

Class pictures were snapped Thursday—just in time and staff members are hurrying up the copy for the rest. There are two or three pictures of the old high school in the book and lots of them with it for a background.

FAMOUS SEAFOOD TOWN FACES FIRE

TELEPHONE OPERATOR GETS AID FROM NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Pocomoke City, Md., March 30.—(UP)—Crisfield, Md., famous seafood town 27 miles from here, was partly destroyed by fire last night.

Flames starting at 7:30 o'clock last evening were not put under control until 2 A. M. today by firemen from Crisfield and nearby Maryland and Delaware towns. At dawn the chief telephone operator at Crisfield said two-thirds of the town's business district had burned; including two theaters, all large stores, wholesale establishments and oyster packing houses.

At that hour she was unable to connect with a single telephone in Crisfield. She said she had heard that from one to three persons were injured, with possibly one person dead. The fire was still smoldering, she said.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

March 29, 1903

Miss Carrie Sykora has taken a position with Mrs. J. K. Pearce and will learn the millinery trade.

W. J. F. Miller has returned to Brainerd from Duluth and has taken his old position in the office of the Minnesota & International in this city.

J. J. Ellsworth, age 68 years, an old time printer in this state, having been with the St. Paul Pioneer Press for years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his son at Neutral, after an illness of several weeks.

Miss May Candee, the music teacher, returned to her home in Minneapolis this afternoon.

This morning at an early hour the fire department was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Keene. The blaze was a small one and was extinguished before any damage was done.

Yesterday morning shortly after 8 o'clock fire was discovered in the old Blatner house on Second street south and before the department could manage to turn on a stream the flames had eaten their way through the walls of the old frame structure, and it was destined to go.

Judge M. A. Spooner, recently appointed by Governor Van Sant, has qualified and today took the bench at his home town, Bemidji, relieving Judge McClenahan, who convened a term of court there a week or two ago.

The bridge at John Bishop's over the thoroughfare between Gull and Round Lakes has been taken out by the high waters and the traffic up that road will be seriously interfered with as soon as the ice goes out. The bridge was built new last summer.

The regular spring vacation in the city schools will take place next week.

H. A. Lyndon has sold his two houses on the corner of Eighth and Holly streets to Olaf Skauge, the druggist.

A son was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Erickson.

Miss Sara Wilson leaves tomorrow to teach a term of school at Vine-land.

Promenade concerts which are so popular in London and Paris are most enjoyable functions, and that which will take place in Gardner's hall on April 17 promises to be a genuine success. As this will be the first ever given in the city it is advisable perhaps to explain that there is no dancing at such entertainments. The audience will be seated during the first part of the program, consisting of eight numbers, which will be rendered by Miss Charlotte Hanlon, Miss Marion Hallady and Messrs. McCarthy. After this the seats will be arranged around the walls and the center, full length of the hall, be cleared for promenading.

March 31, 1903

Mrs. Skinkle of Minneapolis who visited in Brainerd with Mrs. C. H. Paine, for a day or two returned home this afternoon.

Invitations have been sent out for the regular annual Easter party to be given by Ascalon Commandry, No. 16 K. T. on Monday evening, April 13, 1903, at their asylum. Dancing will commence at 8:30 o'clock and it will be one of the pretentious social affairs of the season.

KILLED EMPLOYER AS HE REFUSED BACK WAGES

Niles, Mich., March 31.—(UP)—Marguerite Bumbaugh, 32, Warsaw, Ind., was held on a charge of murder here today following her confession that she shot and killed Walter H. Cook, wealthy basket manufacturer, in his office here yesterday.

The young woman declared she killed Cook because he refused to pay her $3,379 in back wages.

She entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of first degree murder, and hearing was set for April 6. She was to be taken to the county jail at St. Joseph, Mich., today.

Miss Bumbaugh, accompanied by her two brothers, entered Cook's office and demanded payment of the girl's wages. Witnesses said Cook refused and that Miss Bumbaugh drew a gun and started firing.

FEDERAL COURT OPENS AT ST. PAUL WITH 350 CASES

St. Paul, March 31.—(UP)—A total of 350 cases await disposition at the next term of federal court which opens here Tuesday. Of this number 150 are criminal cases, the majority of which are for liquor violations.

The narcotic agent has six cases for violations of federal narcotic laws and there are also two cases pertaining to the use of counterfeit revenue stamps on liquor bottles.

Outstanding among the criminal cases will be the trial of Arthur Lorenz, indicted with C. A. Cochran and other aides in a $2,000,000 gold note fraud.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

When the Maryland Racing Commission ruled Earl Sande off the turf for alleged rough riding, the commissions in other states of the union had no choice but to follow suit.

But when the Maryland turf officials, appointees of a Democratic administration, barred the horses of Harry F. Sinclair because of his alleged contribution to Republican campaign funds, it was a bit too much to expect other states to fall in line.

Sande, to everyone's satisfaction, has been reinstated in Maryland. That state's racing commission has not as yet, however, given indication of any intention of reinstating Sinclair.

Probably not since the United States government sought to bar the Countess of Cathcart has there been a more mistaken application of the idea of moral turpitude.

On the turf, all men are supposed to be equal, and all horses as nearly so as the handicapper can make them.

After the James boys, Jesse and Frank, had come to be nationally notorious as bank robbers, hold-up men and murderers they continued to race a stable of fast thoroughbreds at Nashville.

Sam Hildreth, who trains horses for Sinclair and who may buy out the old man as a result of the Maryland ban, will tell you that Frank James was one of the most honest men with whom Hildreth ever had dealings on the turf. Frank acted as Sam's betting commissioner and reported back the winnings and losses to the last penny.

This is not to suggest that there is any bond of sympathy between bank robbers and contributors to the Republican national campaign, but merely, on the contrary, to point out that the private life of an individual or even his alleged public depredations has never swayed the judgment of honest-turfmen in their dealings with him.

The turf has a code and a law of its own. Sometimes this code is very rigid and severe, as was the case with Earl Sande. The stewards at Pimlico, on the occasion of the running of the Futurity there last November, thought Reigh Count should have won the race. They were told that Sande on Bateau had been close to Reigh Count on the back stretch and apparently had interfered with the favorite, since the latter reared and fell back. There was conflicting testimony, including the tearful protestations of Sande, who enjoyed the best of reputations.

The stewards decided against the premier jockey of America, and Sande was barred from the turf in this country, Canada, Cuba, England and the Continent. Now he has been reinstated, and the incident is of necessity closed.

In acting against Sinclair, the Maryland authorities have gone outside their province, it would seem. Other racing commissions have refused to do likewise. The old man was formerly a member of the New York state commission. On the turf, he and Sam Hildreth enjoy unblemished reputations, and their horses have never run slower than their best.

National politics are so mutable that they even poor grounds for action against an acknowledged sportsman.

ROAD CONDITIONS GENERALLY FAIR

Road conditions throughout the state are only fair, according to the weekly condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today. There are many stretches of good roads, but poor stretches here and there make it inadvisable to start long trips without definite information. Frost bolts have appeared in many places during the last few days and poor spots may appear on any of the unpaved roads very quickly in case of rain or rapid thawing.

Load restrictions had been put into effect on a number of routes, and others may be added if conditions make it necessary. In the following list of restrictions, which are now in effect, the load limit means the total weight of vehicle and load.

"LUMBAGO HAD ME ALMOST CRAZY"

"The pain in my back and the sudden 'stitches' had me bent double. Sometimes the pain would catch me so sharply I almost fainted. I was frantic trying one thing after another. You can imagine my surprise, my joy, when plain 'St. Jacob's Oil' brought me the relief I had sought for years."

"St. Jacob's Oil" gives almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain. Its action is unique—soothing and penetrating in one. Goes direct to the affected part and draws out all the "ouch". It is one remedy for Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, etc., that never disappoints. And it doesn't burn the skin. Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store and try it out.

MUSSOLINI DECREE ON BOY SCOUTS

Rome, March 30.—(UP)—All surviving Catholic boy scout clubs will be merged with the fascist "Balilla" organization, according to a decree issued today by Premier Mussolini in following up his statement that young men's organizations still existing outside the sphere of fascist influence would be absorbed.

The decree seemed the clearest answer Mussolini has yet given the pope in connection with the church and state controversy recently risen.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

When the Maryland Racing Commission ruled Earl Sande off the turf for alleged rough riding, the commissions in other states of the union had no choice but to follow suit.

But when the Maryland turf officials, appointees of a Democratic administration, barred the horses of Harry F. Sinclair because of his alleged contribution to Republican campaign funds, it was a bit too much to expect other states to fall in line.

Sande, to everyone's satisfaction, has been reinstated in Maryland. That state's racing commission has not as yet, however, given indication of any intention of reinstating Sinclair.

Probably not since the United States government sought to bar the Countess of Cathcart has there been a more mistaken application of the idea of moral turpitude.

On the turf, all men are supposed to be equal, and all horses as nearly so as the handicapper can make them.

After the James boys, Jesse and Frank, had come to be nationally notorious as bank robbers, hold-up men and murderers they continued to race a stable of fast thoroughbreds at Nashville.

Sam Hildreth, who trains horses for Sinclair and who may buy out the oil man as a result of the Maryland ban, will tell you that Frank James was one of the most honest men with whom Hildreth ever had dealings on the turf. Frank acted as Sam's betting commissioner and reported back the winnings and losses to the last penny.

This is not to suggest that there is any bond of sympathy between bank robbers and contributors to the Republican national campaign, but merely, on the contrary, to point out that the private life of an individual or even his alleged public depredations has never swayed the judgment of honest-turfmen in their dealings with him.

The turf has a code and a law of its own. Sometimes this code is very rigid and severe, as was the case with Earl Sande. The stewards at Pimlico, on the occasion of the running of the Futurity there last November, thought Reigh Count should have won the race. They were told that Sande on Bateau had been close to Reigh Count on the back stretch and apparently had interfered with the favorite, since the latter reared and fell back. There was conflicting testimony, including the tearful protestations of Sande, who enjoyed the best of reputations.

The stewards decided against the premier jockey of America, and Sande was barred from the turf in this country, Canada, Cuba, England and the Continent. Now he has been reinstated, and the incident is of necessity closed. In acting against Sinclair, the Maryland authorities have gone outside their province, it would seem. Other racing commissions have refused to do likewise. The oil man was formerly a member of the New York state commission. On the turf, he and Sam Hildreth enjoy unblemished reputations, and their horses have never run slower than their best.

National politics are so mutable that they seem poor grounds for action against an acknowledged sportsman.

Load restrictions had been put into effect on a number of routes, and others may be added if conditions make it necessary. In the following list of restrictions, which are now in effect, the load limit means the total weight of vehicle and load.

"The pain in my back and the sudden 'stitches' had me bent double. Sometimes the pain would catch me so sharply I almost fainted. I was frantic trying one thing after another. You can imagine my surprise, my joy, when plain 'St. Jacob's Oil' brought me the relief I had sought for years."
"St. Jacob's Oil" gives almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and all other ailments of the back and joints. It is a remedy for Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, etc., that never disappoints. And it doesn't burn the skin. Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store and try it out.
